Dear Families ,

On Monday, the children in Octopus and Nautilus classes welcomed a special visitor to Stambridge. JoJo Cranfield, a local disabled swimmer, spoke to the children about her disability, how she overcomes barriers in her life and her many achievements in swimming. She has performed competitively at a high standard and was selected twice for the Paralympic Games.

The children found her very inspirational and hopefully they will be motivated to achieve in their swimming and in other aspects of their life.

Have a good weekend.
